

PRODUCT NEWS

U-MATE SERIES

Although the U-MATE series is still available, we would only recommend using it for existing programs that already utilize U-MATE connectors. For all new applications we would recommend the next generation SEA-MATE connector range. This new connector series has many of the original features as those of the U-MATE connectors including, positive keying and proven underwater mating technology but offers greater flexibility to the customer with full oil filled capability and increased contact configurations.